Pangea3 Awarded ISO/IEC 27001:2005 Certification

ISO 27001:2005 certification underscores Pangea3's commitment to client information and data security.

NEW YORK, Apr. 29 – Pangea3 LLC, the global leader in legal process outsourcing to corporate in-house counsel and law firms, announced today that it has received ISO 27001:2005 (ISO 27001) certification for its Information Security Management processes and procedures. Pangea3's legal outsourcing services were awarded ISO 27001 certification from TÜV SÜD South Asia, one of the world's leading testing and assessment companies.

ISO 27001 is the recognized international standard for Information Security Management Systems (ISMS). Published by the International Standards Organization (ISO), ISO 27001 is currently the only international standard which verifies the quality of information management systems and data integrity. With only 6,000 companies certified for ISO 27001 worldwide, Pangea3 is a part of an elite group of companies.

"As a company providing legal services to attorneys, we understand our clients' sophisticated confidentiality and security requirements," said Mohan Ayyangar Pangea3's COO and CTO. "We have implemented rigorous physical and logical controls along with top notch security management team and information security procedures to ensure availability, confidentiality and integrity of our client's data. The physical scope of the certification covers every square inch of our delivery centers in Mumbai and the ISO controls apply to every information asset and every process resident in these facilities. ISO 27001 certification gives our clients added peace of mind about the security of our business."

IT security is important for Pangea3's clients, many of whom are Fortune 1000 corporations and Am Law 250 law firms. ISO 27001 certification demonstrates Pangea3's commitment to stringent information and data security standards of its clients' information.
